Trio Planned To Kidnap Son Of Bob Hope; Plans Were Changed To Sinatra

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As Frank Sinatra Jr. waited in a nearby witness room, an FBI agent testified in federal court that the son of Bob Hope — not young Sinatra — was first choice of a kidnap plot.

FBI Agent Emmett Murphy testified Thursday that Barry Keenan told him that he first thought of abducting Tony Hope, 23, Harvard law student, but quickly abandoned the idea.

Murphy quoted Keenan as saying, "Bob Hope was such a good American and had done so much in entertaining the troops, this shouldn't be done to Bob Hope."

Keenan later told a newsman that he and Tony Hope were once school chums in St. John's Military Academy in suburban Chatsworth.

He explained that this year marks the centennial of the incorporation of the borough. Next year marks the 200th anniversary of the year when Peter Klein laid out the town. He added: "We want everyone to begin work on next year's bicentennial. Let's make it the biggest thing ever for Littlestown."

GRAND MEADOW, Minn. (AP)—A 6-year-old school girl was dragged to her death over a country road Thursday when her coat caught in the rear door of a car.

She was Colleen Marie Barr, who got out of the back door of the car near her farm home. The driver, Edward Dormody, 47, said later he had looked back, saw the girl was out and started up.

It was nearly a mile later that Dormody stopped the car again to let out a boy who was riding in the back seat—the last one of several he was hauling home from kindergarten.

The girl's coat was released and the boy, son of Robert King, stood bewildered at the sight of the mangled girl and didn't cry out to Dormody. He told his parents about it when he got home and they called Dormody.

Johnson Endorses Civil Rights, Visits Father Of Late President, Cuffs GOP

By FRANK CORMIER
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Johnson opened his 1964 election campaign by taking a solid stand for civil rights before a Southern audience.

He also shook hands with street-corner crowds, paid a visit to the father of the late President John F. Kennedy in Palm Beach, cuffed the Republicans, and generally seemed to enjoy himself on a quick, four-stop trip to a hotel nightclub to see the entertainers Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse.

Johnson told 3,000 fellow Democrats at a fund-raising dinner Thursday night that "full participation in our society can no longer be reserved to men of one color."

MODEST APPLAUSE

"The administration," he said, "intends to press forward with legislation, with education and with action until we have eliminated the last barrier of intolerance." The applause was modest.

APPRAISAL OF PROPERTY MAY COST $200,000

The Adams County commissioners this morning received an offer from the Morrison Appraisal Co., West Chester, to appraise all property and buildings in the county, "field ed" all properties for the mapper and make an occupation list for $142,000.

A year ago the commissioners had received an offer of $240,000 for the reappraisal of county properties, including the mapping. With the county doing the mapping the cost of reappraisal as required will be "about $200,000" the commissioners reported.

MICROFILMING

Possibly involved in the work is the microfilming of 191,000 pages of deeds and other instruments basic to getting a complete record for the mapping of each property.

The work must be done eventually, the commissioners said. The question is how to do it most economically.

Leslie D. Park, Mrs. Paul L. Reaser and Mrs. David Deitch met with the commissioners to discuss the possibility of the county providing $2,000 to help operate the Cerebral Palsy training center. The money would be in addition to amounts raised by Community Chest and a county-wide drive.

Mrs. Della Hershey met with the commissioners to discuss development of the public library.

HEAR TALK ON LINCOLN VISIT

Details of Lincoln's visit to Gettysburg were outlined by John D. Lippy Jr., to the Gettysburg Civil War Round Table at its meeting Thursday evening in the GAR home, E. Middle St.

"Lincoln did not know until the night of November 13 exactly what was expected of him in connection with the next day's dedication of the cemetery here," Lippy said. At that time he asked David Willis to give him details of the program.

November 19, 1863, was "a beautiful November day—not chilly," Lippy said. Long coats worn by many present as seen in photograph were not winter coats but frock coats.

Lippy spoke and answered questions for nearly two hours. He corrected a misstatement appearing in the report of his talk given by him at a meeting of the Rotary Club Monday. The story incorrectly quoted Lippy as saying Lincoln's illness on his arrival at Washington was found to be smallpox. The illness was a mild case of chicken pox.

President George Kauffman presided and appointed David Tawney, Calvin Shank and Fred Troxell as the auditing committee. Plans to attend a meeting in Hagerstown in April were cancelled.

Robert Stokes Is Merit Exam Finalist

Robert Stokes, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Stokes, Harrisburg St., and a member of the Senior class at Gettysburg High School, has been notified by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation that he has been advanced from the semifinalist to the finalist stage of the annual merit program.

He will be presented a certificate of merit at the annual awards assembly at the high school in the spring.

The 13,000 finalists across the nation represent less than two-thirds of one per cent of the nation's graduating secondary school senior population. To become a finalist, the local youth had to take a scholastic aptitude test in December and file scholastic and financial information forms. Merit scholars are selected from the finalist group.

VAN JOHNSON YEARS FOR MATURE ROLE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's passion for rerunning old and middle-aged feature films at all hours of the day and night has had a curious effect on the career of Van Johnson.

Although he is 47 years old and has been an important motion picture star for 20 years, use of these elderly films has gained him a legion of young fans.

This Peter Pan status in television currently bugs Johnson who yearns for some interesting, meaty dramatic parts.

"I'D PAY THEM"

"Hell," said Johnson heatedly, "I'd sure like to do something in television from New York. But how do you get on shows like 'The Defenders,' 'The Nurses' or 'East Side, West Side'?"

"Maybe they think that I'd want $10,000 a crack, but I'd just like a good part. I'd pay them if they'd let me have it."

It isn't that Johnson has not had opportunities to do a television series.

"MY BIG PROBLEM"

"I turned down 'The Untouchables' when it was offered to me in Hollywood," he continued. "And I've never been sorry. Then—and now—I couldn't imagine driving to Desilu to work every day of my life."

The youthful-looking actor, recovered now from two successful operations for the removal of a malignancy, is not just looking for work. His film commitments call for one picture a year and he has a very successful nightclub act.

"There's lots of money in playing nightclubs," he said. "But my big problem is that, after all those years of working at MGM, I can't get used to staying up late. I still wake up at 6 o'clock—ready to go to work."

MURDER AND SUICIDE FAIL

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—Authorities say an apparent murder-suicide attempt failed Thursday night when a man fired two bullets from the wrong angle.

The principals are reported in satisfactory condition.

Sheriff's Deputy Jim Brown and Policeman Carl Day quoted Joe Blake, 44, as saying he shot Jacqueline Ruth Yarborough, 35, between the eyes at close range.

Doctors said the bullet went through her sinus, then her palate, into the tongue and shattered inside the mouth.

Day explained the woman was sitting when Blake fired from a standing position.

Then, the officers said, Blake turned the 38-caliber revolver on himself. The bullet went through his right jawbone, stopping in his mouth. He spit the bullet out.

Day said Blake would be charged with assault with intent to kill.

JOE KUCHARICH TAKES OVER AS EAGLES COACH

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joe Kucharich took over as head coach of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles today, armed with a four-year contract and a mandate from millionaire owner Jerry Wolman to build the best team money can buy.

Wolman introduced Kucharich as his new coach at a news conference Thursday night, confirming a 24-hour report by The Associated Press that the 46-year-old former college and pro coach would get the job.

Kucharich succeeds Nick Skorich, fired by Wolman last month on the very day the 37-year-old contractor's $5.5 million purchase of the Eagles was approved by the league. He takes over a team that has been last in its division two straight years and in dire need of a complete overhauling.

GLAD FOR JOB

Undaunted by the fact he was Wolman's third or fourth choice for the post, Kucharich said he was glad to get the job, and felt the Eagles had the nucleus of an explosive team destined to move up quickly toward title contention.

Kucharich left his job as supervisor of NFL officials to take the Eagles' job. He said he had the "itch" to return to coaching after one year in the league office.

"It was tough watching the films of 14 games every week and realizing that none was yours," he said.

EX-CARD-NAL

Kucharich, who played college football at Notre Dame and as a pro with the Chicago Cardinals, has coached at the University of San Francisco and Notre Dame in college ranks, and with Pittsburgh, Chicago Cards and Washington in the NFL. He was head coach at Washington from 1954 through 1958, posting a record of 26 won, 33 lost and two tied.

In 1959 he returned to Notre Dame as head coach and remained there until leaving for the NFL officials job after the 1962 season. He said Thursday night he planned to hire five assistants and had definite men in mind.

Known generally for his hard-hitting ground game, Kucharich said he planned a wide open style of football with the Eagles. He said the Eagles were geared for a passing game.

NO SALARY FIGURE

Kucharich expects Jack Con-cannon, the high priced rookie quarterback from Boston College, to battle the veteran passer Sonny Jurgensen for the all-important passing job.

Kucharich said Wolman's enthusiasm, youth, money and dedication toward building a winner tempted him to end his one year hiatus from coaching. He said he was well aware he wasn't Wolman's primary choice, "but that doesn't concern me in the least."

No salary figure was disclosed for the 10th coach in the 30-years of Eagles' history.

Wolman, who tried to get Minnesota's Norm Van Brocklin as general manager-coach, and when that failed tried to lure ex-Cleveland Coach Paul Brown in to the fold, said Vince McNally would continue as general manager.

SUSPEND PUPIL IN BEATLE SUIT

CLAYMONT, Del. (AP)—Larry Robinson, a 15-year-old freshman, has been suspended from Claymont High School for wearing a Beatle suit to school.

District Superintendent Robert L. Durkee Thursday upheld the suspension by school principal Haig Kupjian and said the boy can't come back until he changes into more conventional attire.

At an after-school meeting, 57 faculty members gave the principal a 100 per cent vote of confidence in his action.

The boy's father, Ronald G. Robinson, who chipped in $6 toward the $16 suit, has told his son to continue wearing the suit to class. He said he would carry his appeal to the State Board of Education if school authorities persist in their demands.

The outfit, which consists of an oddily-cut coat, skin-tight trousers and a mop-like wig, is not considered vulgar by school authorities, only "distracting."

3RD GENERATION LEADER

Roger J. Keefer, secretary of borough council, whose grandfather had been president of Littlestown borough council in 1870 and whose great-grandfather had been an auditor in 1932 for Germany Twp. from which Littlestown came, told of the actions of council during the last century. The first council meeting was held September 19, 1864. At the session David Schwartz was elected treasurer and Dr. J. S. Kemp secretary. The first official act of the council was to borrow $2,000 to help secure sufficient volunteers to answer the call for men for the Union Army.

The first official record of the town's interest in a water system appeared in the minutes of the August 5, 1895, meeting of town council.

Council decided to increase the town's debt to $15,000 to construct a "water works." At the election in November, the town residents voted 213 to 26 to authorize council to borrow the sum and the work proceeded. In 1915, according to a resolution of the time, "the borough is in direct need of a greater water supply."

GIVES SCHOOL HISTORY

In 1931 the water supply again became dangerously low and the town sank a number of test drillings to find new wells. Eventually F. M. Booker of York, a "water witch," was hired to find a well, but the town still did not find any major additional water supply. In 1939 and 1940 more wells were drilled. In 1954 after drought, the Sneiderger quarry was secured. At present a survey is being made to locate additional water supplies. The town uses from 57 to 60 million gallons of water per year, Keefer said.

Professor King told the town's school history dating back to 1747 when John Henry Kreutz was schoolmaster. The school, at "Kreutz Kirche," now Christ Church, remained in existence approximately 100 years.

The free school act of 1834 met opposition in the Littlestown area. "Many people sincerely believed that free schools would endanger indolence, increase crime, oppress the taxpayers and destroy indi-

Although a number of these moves were made without advance announcement, Johnson gave no sign that he was concerned about his safety.

At least five times during his Miami Beach stay, the President waded into thick crowds to shake hands, and the crowd pushed and shoved around him.

CENTENNIAL OF TOWN

town he was ahead of his time. but the town did take roots and when General Anthony Wayne passed this way in 1781 he refers to it as Peter Little's Town. A map of 1796 shows it under the name of Petersburg.

"Something is needed to give a town a push—some new industry, some new form of transportation. The records show Littlestown to have had a population of 250 in 1800, and 400 in 1850. By 1860 it had 702 inhabitants. What happened in the decade from 1850 to 1860? The railroad came here in 1858 and that may have been the push that led to the churches, which formerly had been out of town moving into the community, the establishment of a bank and all the rest that showed growth in the part of the community.

"SECOND IN COUNTY"

"With the rapid growth, incorporation as a borough seemed natural. It was attempted in 1860 and accomplished in 1864. There were those who opposed, some probably because there are always many opposed to change and some because of the increased taxation that would be needed to support the new town. The vote for incorporation in 1863 was 34 for and 28 against.

"A history of Pennsylvania in 1876 noted 'Littlestown, formerly called Petersburg, is the second town in size and importance in the county. . . . The Frederick and Pennsylvania line railroad passing through the place has added much to its business prosperity. The town is pleasantly located, in a fertile and highly improved country and presents a fine appearance.'"

Littlestown, Dr. Glatfelter said, "in 1876 had a foundry, a machine shop, four carriage manufacturers, three cabinet makers, a sash factory, four cigar manufacturers, a tannery, a stone cutter, a bank, four hotels, a photo gallery, four physicians, a dentist, and this classification has always intrigued me, three oyster and ice cream saloons."

GOT LITTLE THANKS

He added: "One hundred years ago men like Dr. R. S. Seiss labored with perhaps little thanks to have Littlestown erected into a borough. They had a certain pride in their town. It meant something to them. It was a place where their talents were spent. Perhaps without realizing it they, and others, expressed their loyalty by supporting ever longer school terms, by tooling away mightily in the Littlestown bank, by encouraging new industry to come to the town, by arguing for a community water system, by fighting for and doing all these things which have made the community progress."

"As the second century of Littlestown begins, if this town is to have a future, there must be a vision to determine what makes a town a strong and useful thing in our day and a will to translate that vision into reality. It is my fervent belief that this vision and this will exists here in abundance, that there is plenty of life still in Peter Little's town."

SOME WOMEN NOT BACKING MRS. SMITH

By ERNEST G. WARREN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The battle of the sexes appears to stop somewhere short of the White House door, for the women of the country indicate they are not solidly united behind Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's bid for the presidency.

At least that's the indication if you count the women writing letters to the Maine Republican.

Generally the letters that have poured into her office since she tossed her bonnet into the GOP presidential nomination ring are favorable—about 96 per cent, her office estimates.

SOME MEN IN FAVOR

And some are triumphantly favorable, such as the letter from a Granada Hills, Calif., woman who wrote:

"A lady in the White House? Yes. Five million women in Washington could not have made a worse mess than we have today."

And many of the men, some probably accustomed to the idea of a woman ruling the roost, are all for a "madam president."

Then there is always the man who looks back fondly on the good old days when women weren't even allowed to cast a ballot, much less have their names on one.

And that theme was in a sharp note from a Buffalo, N. Y., male who remarked:

"The day women got the vote, that day the country went to hell."
